My heartiest congratulations to you graduates of Gonzaga Preparatory School.
You have been given an intellectual training than which none is better. More important, you have been taught to love the good God above all things and to live completely for Him. God grant you never forget this.

MARY, THE MOTHER OF GOD

DEDICATION

Holy Mary, Mother of God, pray for us sinners
Now and at the hour of our death. Amen.

These words are taken from a petition that embodies all the loyalty and devotion that Gonzagans have for our Blessed Mother. Throughout the past years we have sought her help in times of trial and we have rejoiced with our Lady in times of triumph. Now, facing the future, we turn once more to the Mother of God in the fervent hope that she will continue to intercede for us.

Apprehensive, we have turned to her; appreciative, we take this opportunity to thank her.

To the Mother of God we dedicate this Luigian.

RETREAT

Fr. Joseph P. Costa, S.J., dictates to the upperclassmen.

Every year the students of Gonzaga High School set aside three days out of the year for the annual retreat. This they consider to be the most important three days of the entire school year. Again this year the senior retreat was held in the gym while the frosh had their retreat in the chapel. The senior retreat was given by Fr. Joseph P. Costa of the Society of Jesus. The senior retreat this year was based on loyalty and purity of heart and mind. The frosh again were aptly taken care of by our Spiritual Director, Fr. John Thatcher S.J.

As a whole, the retreat went over again with an outstanding realization of the golden rule, silence. The groups that are usually the noisiest and usually cause the most trouble were outstandingly quiet, and concentrated on making a good retreat to again regain a satisfactory spiritual agreement between themselves and God.

The Freshmen listen intently to Gonzaga's Spiritual Director, Fr. John Thatcher, S.J.

KNIGHTS OF THE LEASH

The Knights of the Leash, a service organization made up of students chosen for their excellence in studies and extra-curricular activities, has the difficult task of keeping order in the student body, and also setting good example for the other students. Various school events are also ushered each year by members of this club. The "Knight Flight," the annual dance sponsored by the Leash, proved to be a huge success. The dance was held in the Silver Room of the Spokane Hotel with music furnished by Ralph Dickenson, one of Spokane's most popular bands. King and queen of the event were Bob Meighan and Sue Kelliher.

The Champ, Joe Pendleton (Jim Flaherty), poses in the best of form with his Manager Max Levene and Head Angel Mr. Jordan (Frank Burger and John Lynch)

A detective (Tom Crowley) tries vainly to get information from Joe and his trainer (Tom McAndrews) as the bewildered doctor (Joe Hawley) leaves the scene.

"Why can't you hear me?" Joe's spirit shouts, as the rest of the cast makes small talk, completely unaware of Joe's presence.

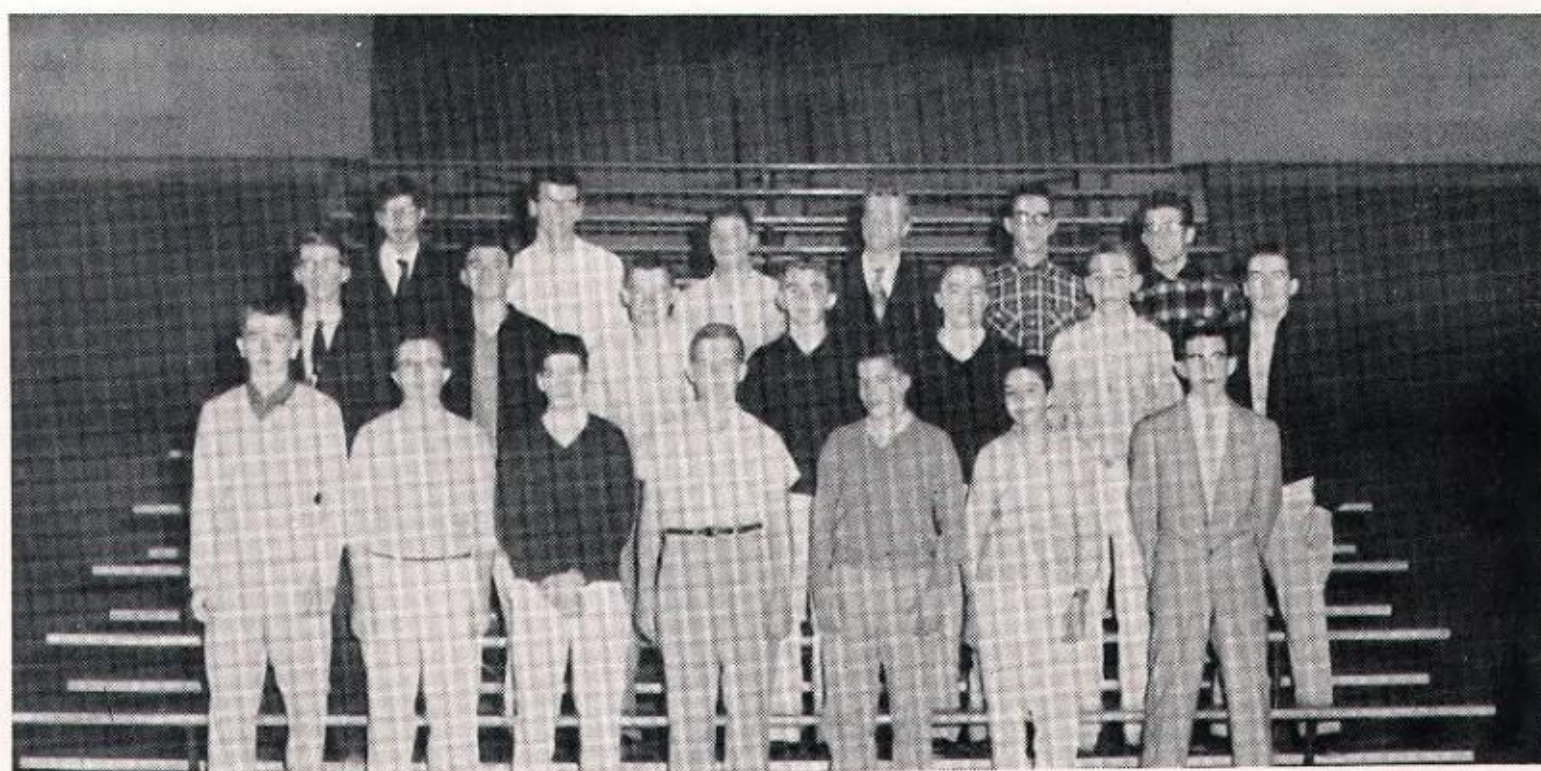

The 1955-56 season was undoubtedly one of the best that the Sock & Buskin Club has ever had. This year the club was extremely active. They presented two top-notch Broadway plays in the Gonzaga Prep Gym besides assisting in some of Marycliff's and Holy Names' plays. Their first play, the Broadway hit "Heaven Can Wait", starred Jim Flaherty in the title role and was a smash hit. Both nights it played there wasn't an empty seat in the house. Their second production, "Green Pastures", starred Darrell Jesse, a newcomer to Gonzaga this year, and Art McGinn in the main roles. "Green Pastures" was also an instant hit with all who saw it. All the performers turned in exceptionally fine jobs. The Sock and Buskin Club has done a large part in making this year a year to be well remembered at Prep.

The entire cast of "Green Pastures" is here shown in the finale of the Sock and Buskin Club's second production.

The exceptional is the rule when speaking about Gonzaga debate teams. To the winning precedent set by former years, additional awards were again added this year to attest the truth of the above statement. Semi-final status was attained at the Seattle Univ., Marquette High school, and Gonzaga Univ. debate tournaments by the team of Pete Norie and Donn Herron.

In the individual events, Bill Tanksley won recognition in dramatic interpretation, as did Donn Herron in oratory competition. Herron also terminated his final year of debating by placing second in scholarship competition at Seattle Univ. and by securing the best debater award for the U. W. Debate League.

The varsity team under the direction of Mr. Suver, S.J., was composed of two seniors, Pete Norrie and Donn Herron, and two juniors, Tom Rice and Bill Tanksley. Although the members of the varsity team received the actual acknowledgements, full credit must also be given to the remainder of the squad whose support and assistance made a great part of the year's success possible. Among these, those most promising for another successful year are Dan Murphy, Tom McKinnon, and Bob Lamp.

GONZAGA NIGHT

Gonzaga has many great traditions, but one of the finest is that of Gonzaga Night. This year, Gonzaga Night was (as always, we might add) a huge success. Each of the four class marshals followed in the footsteps of Gonzaga orators and was warmly received, as was each class's presentation of talent. This was the Sophomores' year to gloat as they took the grand prize with their uncanny arrangement of "Sixteen Tons." They barely edged out the Seniors, however, who gave a sharp rendition "A Day in the Life of Joe Prep." The awarding of all the Varsity football letters and the presentation of the Inspirational Award to Nick (Cheech) August completed the program.

Father Thatcher directs the Glee Club as they open this year's Gonzaga Night program.

The pleas of Father Perri (Bob Meighan) fall on the deaf ears of Joe Prep as Father Toner (Joe Hawley) grimly looks on.

THE CAMPUS

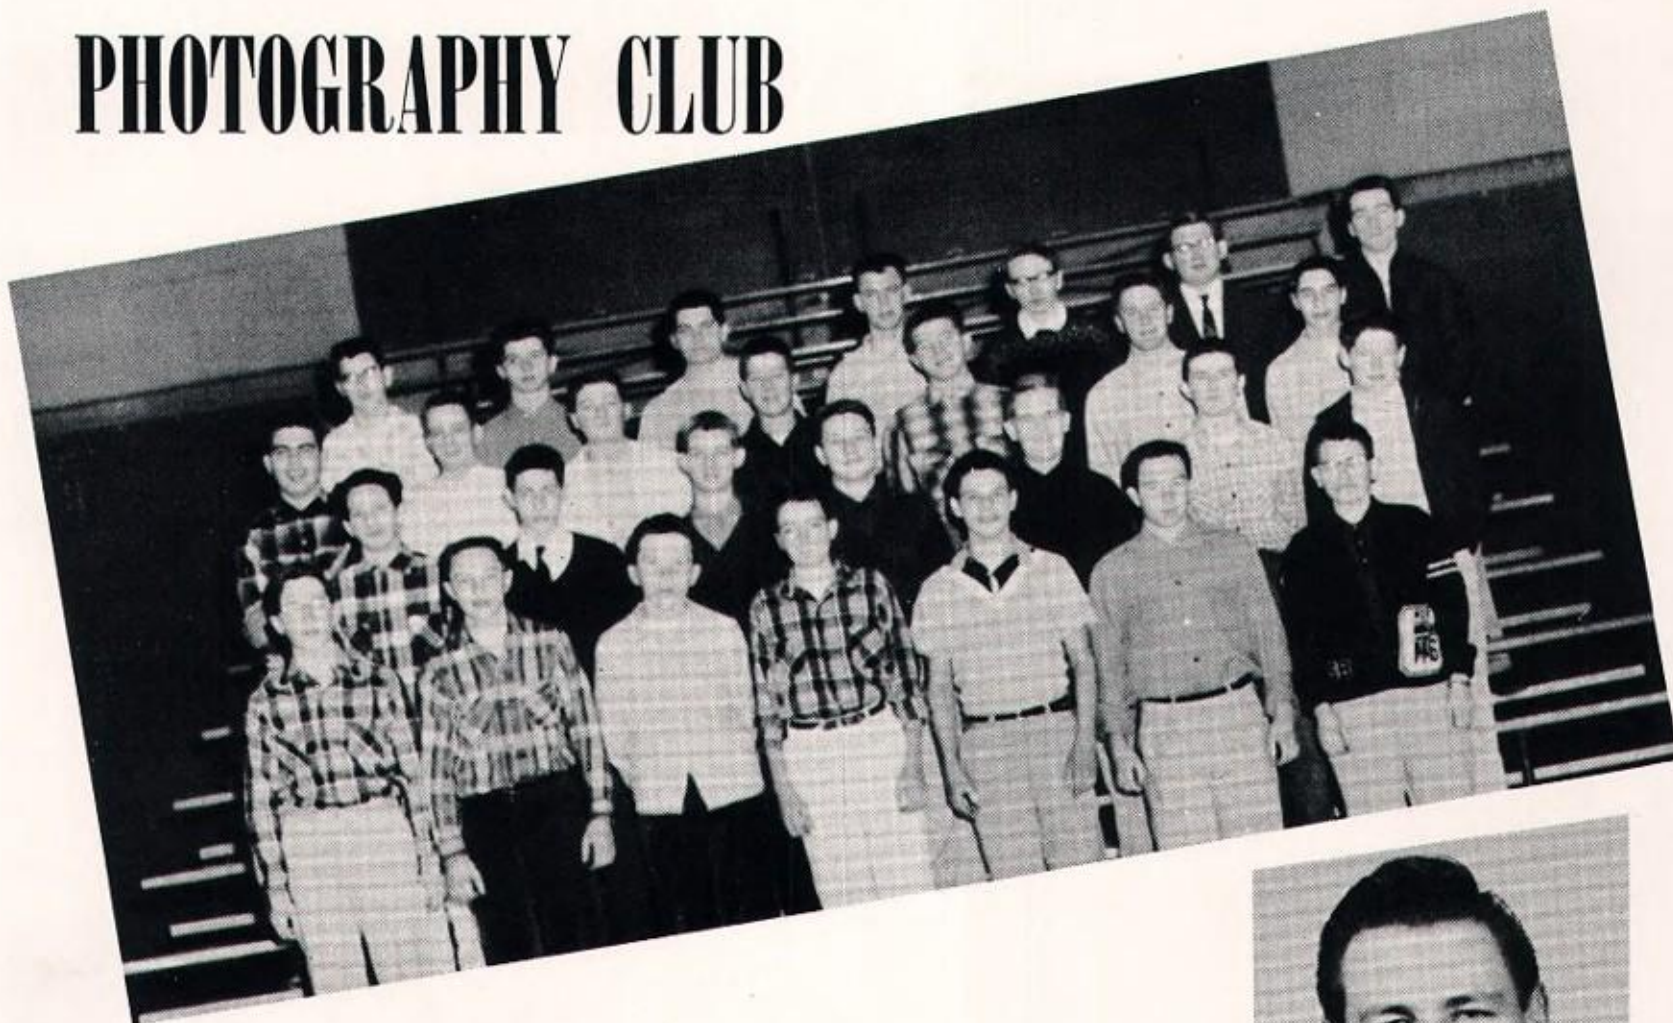

Two years ago the site on which the present Gonzaga Prep now stands was nothing but a few acres of barren land. Upon this ground the people of Spokane built a Catholic School, but because of the condition of the surrounding area, this school was simply a modern building in an open field. In two short years, however, a tremendous amount of work has turned this open field into a beautifully landscaped school campus. There are many who have contributed to this result, notably, Mr. William Suver, who planned and built our Marian Shrine. Yet one man stands out from all others: Fr. Wilfred Schoenberg. Father came to Gonzaga the year the school was built and at once undertook the job of developing the grounds. He spent months of his spare time working on the athletic fields, especially after school when he had plenty of 'volunteer' help from jug. ————— One need but look at the campus as it now appears in order to realize that Father has done wonders. Therefore, we, the student body of Gonzaga Preparatory School, wish to say, "Thank you, Father Schoenberg, for a tremendous job well done."

Two short years ago, this well tended lawn wasn't much more than a weed patch.

The Photography Club of Gonzaga Prep has been 'branded' with the endless job of taking, developing, and printing all of the many pictures for the Gonzagan, the Luigian, and for publicity stories on the school. In addition to this, they must study and keep up on the latest photographic techniques. Under the capable direction of Mr. John Lien, they have proven themselves to be largely responsible for the fine photographic work in your annual.

FOOTBALL

The varsity squad, picked as a top contender for the City and Columbia Basin League titles, started out with a bang and it appeared to everyone that this prediction would be fulfilled. Under the capable coaching of Bill Frazier, the team won the Vic Dessert Memorial trophy for their victory in the Merry-Go-Round game. This was followed by a 27-13 victory over Central Valley. However, the tables were turned in city league action, and Gonzaga lost their next seven games before defeating Rogers by a decisive margin in the final game.

Although this year proved to be one of Gonzaga's off-seasons, the football team nevertheless should be credited for their fine defensive play. This proved true in both Lewis and Clark games. Willie Jones, the league's top yard gainer, was stopped cold in both games, and the orange and black had to struggle to beat the Gonzaga eleven by the narrow scores of 7-0 and 12-0. The Gonzaga offensive spark came to life in the last game of the season with the result being a 20-6 victory over Rogers.

GRADUATING STARTERS 1956

NICK AUGUST—HB

JERRY BARUFFI—T

JOHN BARRINGTON—HB

Halfback Nick August carried jersey No. 77, which has been worn by many a famous Prep gridder, to further heights in this, his final year for the Bullpups. "Cheech" played skillfully enough to land on the "Spokane Daily Chronicle's" first string All-City squad. He was noted also for his competitive spirit.

Center George "Cyrano" Carty is one of those kind of characters that makes a team what it should be. His smiles and wisecracks seldom get through to his opponents, because although a character, he is one of the roughest defensive players in the league.

Tackle Joe Hawley, better known as "Big Joe", put his massive 210 lb. frame to good use on the Bullpup line this year, as he completed his third season on the varsity. The big tackle could usually be found in the nearest pile up, in which he was anchor man.

End John "Bubs" Hunting made his only year on the varsity a successful one. A mass of coordination, "Bubs" resembles an acrobat in hauling down hard-to-get passes. He is also an excellent punter, with an average of close to 60 yards per kick.

Halfback John Barrington, the most reliable man in the Pup backfield, also brought home his second football letter this season. Whenever there was a yard or yards that just had to be gained, No. 33 would usually be the one to get them.

Guard Tom McAndrews completed his high school football career with a spot on the second teams of both Spokane newspapers' All-City selections. "Mac", who is known for his rough-and-tumble brand of football, is a two year letterman.

GEORGE CARTY—C

JOEL HAWLEY—T

BUBS HUNTING—E

MIKE LEWIS—FB

Fullback Mike "Ameche" Lewis, a three year letterman, spent most of his football days at Prep as a stand-out guard, but was shifted to the backfield at mid-season this year. Mike thrives on contact and, as many victims will tell you, he hits like a pile driver, the result being a berth on the All-City first team.

Dave Sprague, one of the coolest players in the city league, brought home his third football letter with the completion of this season. Dave, a model student and athlete earned football recognition with a fine passing arm and an uncanny ability to lead a football team.

DAVE SPRAGUE—QB

ED REILLY—G

Tackle Jerry "The Bear" Kenney, the heaviest lineman on the Pup forward wall at 230 lbs., won his first football letter this season. Jerry spent his junior year here at Prep on the "B" squad.

Halfback Gaylen "Cowboy" Marsh completed his second colorful year in the Pup backfield this season. "Cowboy" was one of the leading ground gainers on this year's team. He spent a year on both Frosh and "B" squads before playing on the varsity.

TOM McANDREWS—G

DENNIS MORGEN—HB

Quarterback Roy "Ike" Peterson, after a two year layout from football, came back to earn his letter his senior year. "Ike" spent most of the season playing defense and was especially potent on pass defense.

Guard John Heffernan, one of the steadiest players on the team, completed a fine season of football this year. "Heff", who is well known for his consistency on defense, spent two years on the "B" squad before coming to the varsity.

BOB FRANKOVIC turned in a good season of football in the right tackle spot in this, his first year of varsity football competition. "Frank" thus earned his varsity letter this season.

Tackle JERRY BUECHLER won his second letter on the varsity eleven this year. Jerry, who likes his football rough, spent his Sophomore year on the "B" Squad, and also played a year of frosh ball.

Guard RALPH BROWN completed his second season of good, 'heads-up' ball on the varsity this year and brought home his second letter. "Bud" played frosh ball and one year on the "B" Squad before moving up to the varsity.

Halfback JOHN LYNCH was one of the promising seniors who spent most of the season on the injured list. John, who was ruled out of competition because of a leg injury, would have been one of the best pass defense men in the league.

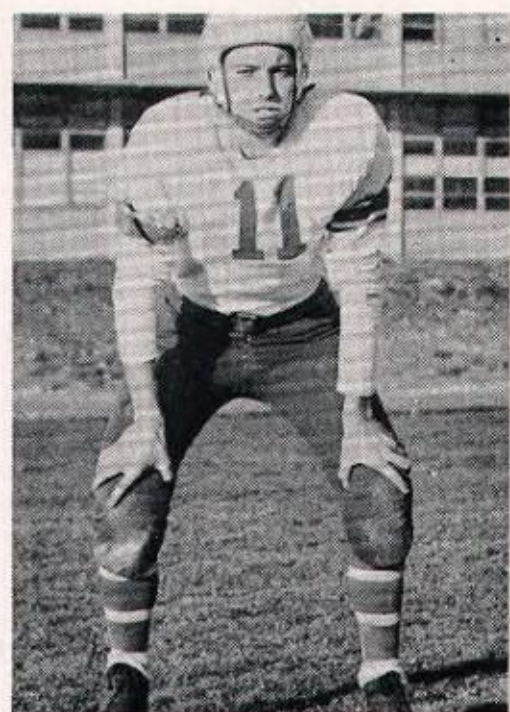

Halfback PAT TIERNEY, a good team player with plenty of spirit and 'guts', was hampered by a chipped neck bone and was lost to the Pups for most of the season. Pat also played two years on the "B" Squad.

JOHN "SPIDER" BAGGS showed a lot of determination in making the varsity this season in his first year of football tryout. John is a faithful boarder and hails from the fair city of Lewiston, Idaho.

End JON HILGER completed four years of football at Gonzaga, and also gained his first varsity letter. Jon is one of the few gridders who lasted through the long grind necessary to reach a spot on the varsity. His frosh year was spent on the Midgets and the next two on the "B"s.

"B" SQUAD

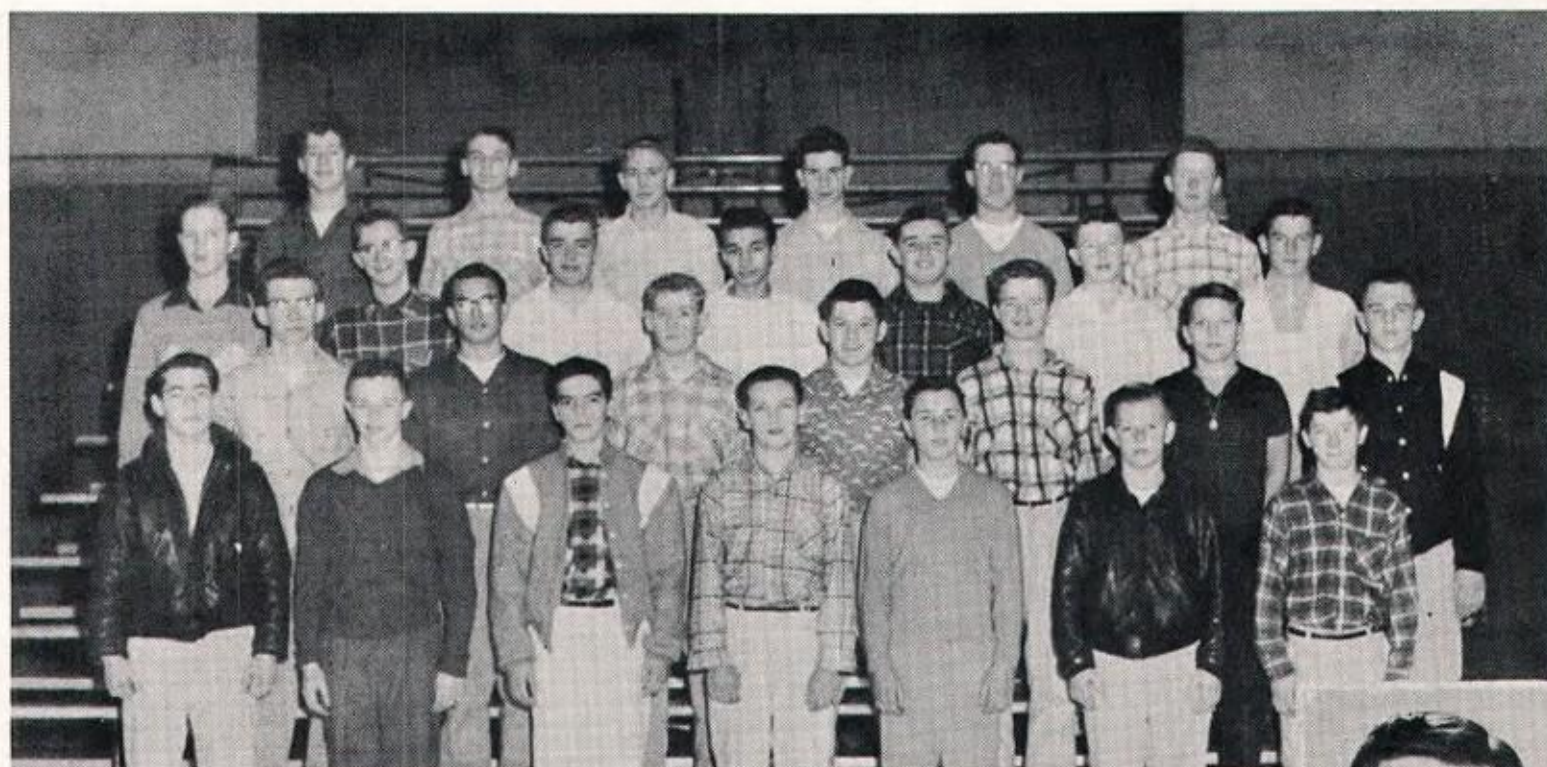

Mr. John Presley
Coach

Although Gonzaga's "B" Squad did not win many games, and although at first, they did not look as good as one might wish, still no one could truthfully say that this team was a failure. True, their 1-7 record is not one to be envied, but one must remember that this was an inexperienced team, and, more important, that they progressed and improved steadily throughout the season until, on the last day, they climaxed the season with a decisive victory over Rogers.

Again, it must be remembered that the primary reason for the "B" Squad's existence is not to win ball games. The coach must primarily teach and develop future Gonzaga gridders, and secondly, as the frosting on the cake, so to speak, win the games.

Coach John Presley did an exceptionally fine job in building football players for the varsity in coming years, as a chronology will show. He started out with young, inexperienced players, doing all he could to teach them all he knew. As the season went on, the team grew steadier and stronger with more experience, and looked as good as any team in the city in their finale, downing Rogers 19-14.

BASKETBALL

At the beginning of the season, Gonzaga's defending champions were rated by the sportswriters to finish at the top of the heap, but when the smoke cleared away, two other teams also shared that "top". The league lead changed hands many times during those hectic two months. One week it would be Gonzaga in the lead spot, then next week it would be someone else. One could say that the six teams in the league were so well matched this year that almost any one of them was capable of beating any other team on a given night. It was in the second to the last scheduled season game that Gonzaga was sole possessor of the first spot after defeating West Valley. But the following week, the Pups fell to a fired-up band of Tigers, and thus ensued the three-way tie for first place.

In order to determine Spokane's representative to the State Tournament in Seattle, a playoff was necessary. In the first playoff game, the Pups played what was possibly their best game as they completely swamped West Valley's Eagles by a score of 68-48. The well knit defense thrown up by Gonzaga was practically impenetrable, and offensively they were flawless.

The next afternoon, however, Prep lost the final playoff to L. C. by a score of 57 to 42. A tight zone defense set up by the Tigers kept the Pups out of effective scoring range all evening, and out of the Seattle Tournament. Still a tie for First Place in the City League was a worthy achievement and we are proud of our fighting Bullpups.

PREP 45—ROGERS 44

A last second shot by Bubs Hunting snatched victory from John Rogers, 45-44 in the two teams' first meeting. The last quarter was the most hectic one of the game, with two starters, Norb Trauba and Denny Cossette fouling out in the final minutes with Prep trailing by 7 points. But Dave Sprague, Nick August and Denny Johnston led Coach Presley's Pups through the last 4 minutes, scoring 13 points among them and holding the Pirates to 4. Hunting was high with 14, followed by Norb Trauba with 13. Dave Sprague canned 8, while Nick August dropped 6.

Symmes (52) steals a rebound from the hands of a Rogers man. In the background Nick August (11) follows the play.

PREP—42 L.C.—48

A hard playing and defensively strong Tiger edged the Bullpups 48 to 42 in the season's windup tilt for both teams. Stunned by a quick 13 to 4 lead in the first quarter, the Zags took two quarters to catch up to L.C., 40 to 40, in the fourth quarter. But from then on Prep scored but one basket while L.C. dumped in four to grab the victory. Norb Trauba and Nick August, both Chronicle All-City stars, led Gonzaga's scoring with eleven points each. Consistent Dave Sprague poured in ten, followed by Bubs "Goatee" Hunting with eight points. Denny Cossette scored two.

PREP 64—ROGERS 59

A wild fourth quarter almost cost the Pups a third loss against Rogers on Feb. 10. Even so, the contest was close all the way to the final gun. At the end of the first quarter the score stood at 16 all, but the Pups pulled away to lead at half-time 35 to 21. The end of the third quarter saw the Pups' lead dwindle to one basket, 45-43. Then came the fast and furious fourth quarter in which the Zags outscored the Pirates by a mere three points, but that was enough to grab victory number five.

Nick August (11) lays-in two points. Denny Cossette (13) comes up for the shot. Bubs Hunting (35), in the background.

PREP 41—W.V. 52

Prep dropped their first game of the season against a fired-up band of Eagles, 52-41. The times were few and far between that saw the Pups leak through the valley's tall n'tight defense for a clean lay in. West Valley held a 35 to 16 half time lead and kept the Pups a good 10 points behind throughout the remaining quarter. Norb Trauba led scoring with 21 points, followed by August, Sprague and Hunting with 10 points apiece.

PREP 46—C.V. 71

Prep suffered their second loss to the other valley team, C.V., 72-46, in a game that saw 5 out of 8 Bears drop in better than 10 points. Norb Trauba dropped in 21 points to lead Gonzaga's scoring. Center Dave Sprague potted 15 while hitting 11 out of 12 from the free throw line. Also scoring for the Bullpups were Bubs Hunting, 4 points, and Billy Symes.

For the second time this season the steady nerves of Bubs Hunting have stolen a ball game right out from under the noses of a team that had already "won." This time it was L. C. Hunting, whose last second jump shot beat Rogers earlier this season, canned a gift toss in the final nine seconds to drop L. C. 46-45. The win knotted Prep with W.V. and L.C. for first place, all three sporting 4-1 records. Guard Nick August displayed some of the finest shooting seen this year in sinking 19 points, mostly on beautiful long range set shots.

AL SNARSKI

PREP 58—W.V. 52

The Zags came a game closer to the city title as they dropped West Valley 58 to 52. The fast breaking Pups held an 18-9 lead going into the second quarter but came out on the short end of things by half time, 25-24 in favor of the Eagles. The last half of the game proved Gonzaga to be a little tougher on offense with Norb Trauba, Dave Sprague and Bubs Hunting scaling the Valley defensive wall to score practically all of the 29 Prep points netted in the second half. Trauba was high with 18 points, followed by Hunting and Sprague, with 16 and 10.

PREP 46—C.V. 30

The 1955 City Champs, who posted a 8-2 pre-season record, won their league opener from C.V. 46-30. The Zags' Dave Sprague, the game's outstanding man on offense and defense, and Bubs Hunting, the game's high scorer, led the Pups through the tough C.V. defense to pour in 30 points between them. Center Sprague netted 16 points, while Hunting, a forward, dumped in 14.

This is what you'd call a mad scramble for the ball. In the foreground for Gonzaga is Dave Sprague and behind him Norb Trauba.

PREP 76—N.C. 59

Norb Trauba poured 24 points through the Coliseum nets to lead Prep in victory over winless N.C., 76-59. Prep had a 5 point lead at half time, 30-25, and had fallen into a 44-44 tie in the third quarter. But Trauba, Nick August and Bubs Hunting put on the steam for 32 points and held N.C. to 15 to grab their 7th victory. The Zags also broke their team scoring record, with Cossette dumping in the chinch.

PREP 68—N.C. 59

Dave Sprague, Nick August and Denny Cossette dropped in all but 6 points in handing N.C. their third consecutive loss. Tied at 35 all in the third quarter after holding a 38-28 half time lead, the Pups slowly but surely added wood to the fire in the fourth quarter to turn the trick. Dave Sprague was high with 19. Cossette was next, with 16 points, followed by August and Trauba with 14 and 13.

"B" SQUAD

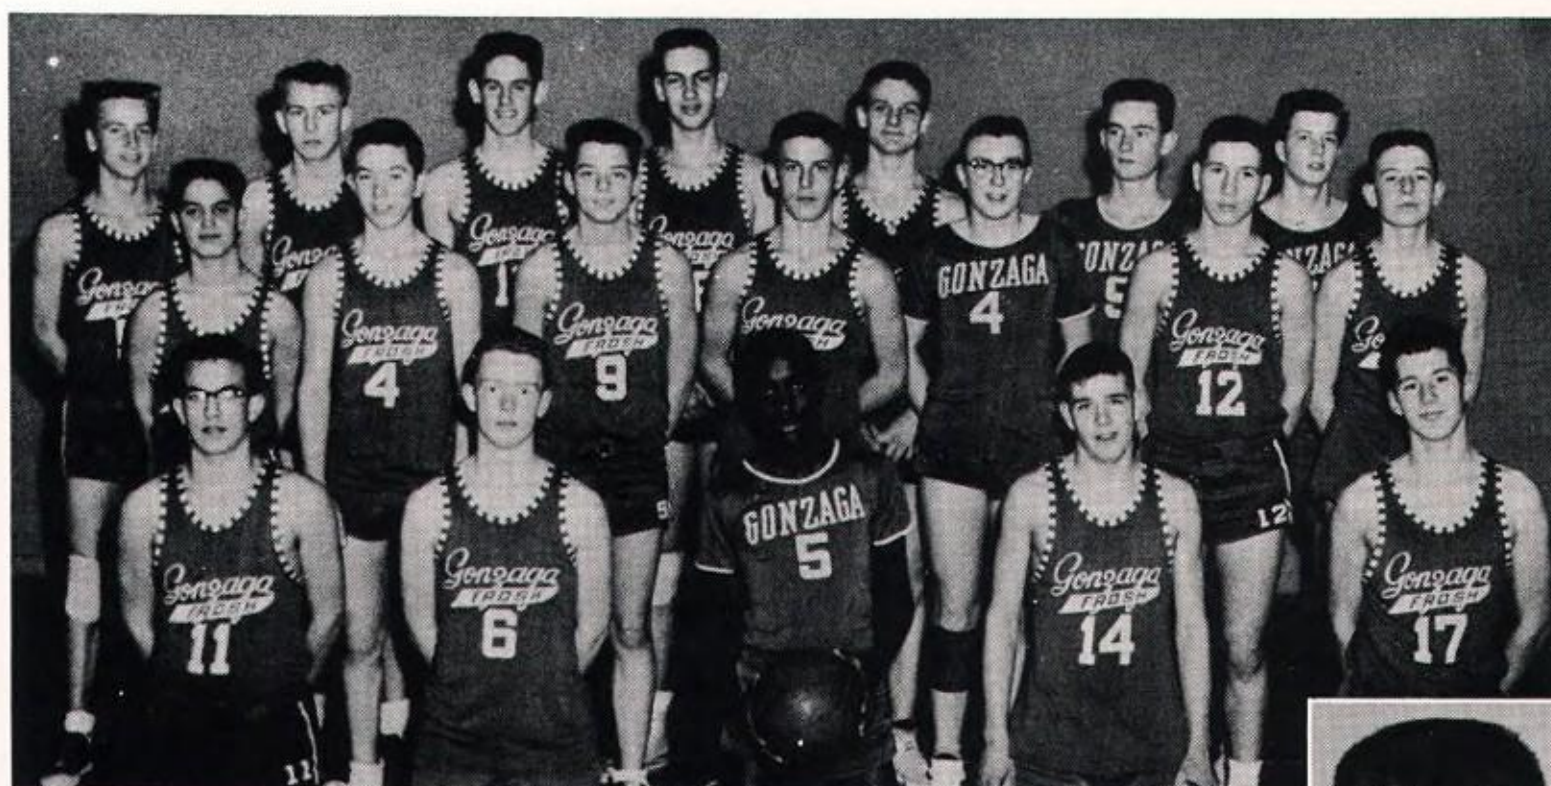

Gonzaga's '55-56 B-squad basketball team, with later-season help from the varsity, finished the season in fine form with a 5-5 record. With the addition of Ford Marshall and Don Durall in early February, the B-squad was at full strength. One thing to note, however, was the tremendous height of this team. Coach Mr. Paul Robinson, S.J., could handle a team of giants with Marshall (6-4), Durall (6-1), Mike Carl (6-3), and Pat West (6-3), also with Jerry Geraghty (5-10) rounding out the first team. Other first-stringers were Dennis Flaherty, Jeff Collington, and Steve Yedinak. Mr. Robinson did a fine job of coaching this team, and he developed his height well for the next-year's varsity.

The Bees were a bit shaky at the start of the season, winning only two of their first three games. But they got steadily better with more experience, and with their reinforcements they were probably as good as any team in the league. As it was, they beat every team in the league at least once, except Rogers, and there they were beaten by only 1 and 3 point margins.

PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

This year the Society of Jesus proudly celebrates the four hundredth anniversary of the death of its saintly founder, Ignatius. In so doing, it honors the contributions of St. Ignatius Loyola to the world. Among these is the eminently successful system of education he gave to his sons, and through them to countless thousands throughout the Christian world.

Class of '56, it has been your good fortune during these past four years to be sharers in this rich heritage! Yours has been a Jesuit education given in faithful adherence to the ideals and teachings of Ignatius. Therefore, it is with joy and happiness that Gonzaga proudly sends you into the world, knowing that you will ever be true to her teachings: loyalty to your country, faithful to your religion, and devoted to God.

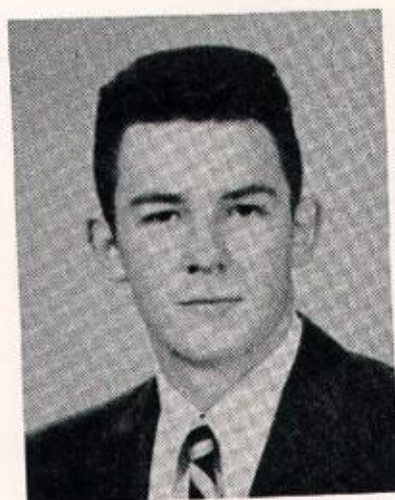

May the motto of St. Ignatius and his Society be yours throughout life, in all that you are and accomplish: Ad Majorem Dei Gloriam—to the greater glory of God!

A PROPHECY OF THINGS TO COME

"What happened to the lucky 120?"

CHARACTERS: PSYCHIATRIST

HERO

SETTING: HERO (ALL EPICS HAVE ONE) AND DOG (AN EXTREMELY IMPORTANT CHARACTER IN THIS PLAY) ARE WALKING INTO A PSYCHIATRIST'S NEW YORK CITY OFFICE.

PSY: Won't you come in?

HERO: I am deeply troubled, Psy.

PSY: Come and sit on my couch and tell me all your troubles. But please leave Dog outside. Rug Rules, you know.

HERO: It all began when I left high school, this feeling of frustration.

PSY: How did you leave?

HERO: (The epic tone is here set) With flashing oars I beat the waves white. It was a rather graceless exit. Cast out, I have wandered upon abandoned shores. I remember my first sad experience was an evening spent in the "Blue Nose Bar" which is owned and operated by the eminent P. Forrest St. Denis, the chain-tavern magnate. There I heard the most charming chamber music played by the Glenn Pring Quartet featuring Ed Smith on tuba, Zip Zappone on flute, "Stretch" McGregor on piccolo, and Andy Lewis on harpischord. (Their recordings may be heard on the "W. J. Hill and F. W. Hiler" Corporation Hour, which produces and sells an amazing new product, Earth.)

PSY: Are you fond of music?

HERO: No. But the melody brought back memories of the times I spent in the islands. The natives there spoke a different language that was developed by Thaddeus Comegys, which no one can read or understand. It's wonderfully confusing.

PSY: Do you enjoy being confused?

HERO: O yes! I especially enjoy the "Handy Home Helps for Helpless Housewives" by Mike O'Neill, which is published in "Tierney's Scientific Weekly." There are the most interesting articles in that magazine by Dr. Richard McLane about dentures, for every occasion. It absolutely astonishes me, how these doctors today can do anything. Dr. W. Daniel Symmes has just become an international figure with his revelation of "The Principles of Curves" in the "Krause and Laurie Mechanical Helps" where he points out that firm determination and growth can cure any handicap. This news was carried over the continents through the media of radio and television by the golden voice of newscaster T. J. Palmer.

PSY: Tell me more about your early experiences, about your first impressions.

HERO: First, there was good old Father McKinnon. He told me that all heroes die young, and that if I was not careful I would follow in the footsteps of underworld leaders Lippy Mellon and One Finger Welsh. This terrified me, for I wanted to be an All-American like Nick August, and have a brewing company like David Olheiser, and be a movie hero like Bart Greenfield who rides motorcycles and plays violins, because movie critic Thomas Wais says that movies are better than ever.

PSY: I begin to see your problem, you don't want to be the hero of an epic, you want to be someone famous. You want to be another Albert Einstein, another Patrick Nolan, another Jerome Olson. (For those of you who don't know Jerome Olson, he advanced the world famous theory of triple negation which destroyed all Aristotle's former principles.)

HERO: Yes, yes, I would like to be someone like that. Maybe I could become a part of the Boyd and Meighan comedy team. They are co-starring with James Flaherty, the Shakesperian actor, on the "Larry Johnston Coffee House Comedy Theater".

PSY: (Thinking to himself) I believe I know now what is wrong with Hero. If I determine the areas of his desires, then I can treat his frustrations. He is envious of all his successful classmates. A typical case. (Out loud) Tell me, Hero, just who you would like to be.

HERO: Well, first in my long abandoned wandering, I went to Seattle, Wash., and there, reading the "Seattle Slam", edited by Jack Marks, I met my first disheartening news. As I began reading, at my usual starting point, the cartoon section, I saw the success of A. J. McGinn staring me in the face. A. J. was the author of the new comic strip smash, "Pretzels". Then, as I rode down the main street in a fuel-injection-equipped cab driven by racer Darrel Jesse, I still felt envious; at least he had a job.

As we drove downtown, I left my favorite part of the paper and went to the sport page. There in the headlines blared the fact that John Lynch had just won the National P.G.A. Tourney. Further down the page I read that Joe Hawley, John Barrington, George Carty, and Tom McAndrews had joined the Ballard Bears, a new entry into the football wars.

Mike Lewis was now coaching a junior high school team to its fortieth straight football title. Mike is an old pro in this game.

David Sprague, I read, was studying in England on a Rhodes Scholarship, and has become a national hero due to his new found cricket ability. Why can't I be a hero like that?

O agony, O pain! (Here the intense drama of the epic usually overcomes the ordinary reader, so perhaps a Scott Vaught patented "Quick Shot" (beer now comes in pills) will calm you down.)

PSY: Let's see now, Hero, let me interrupt you. You were very disheartened by the sport page. Very interesting. (Thinking to himself) This Hero's problem is that he has an inherent fear of being hit on the head with a football. (Out loud) Go on with your story.

HERO: Well, let me see. We were driving through downtown Seattle. Oh yes! There on the marquis of the Jerry Ruddy "Mouldy Rouge" night club, the neon lights blinked the premiere performance of Jon De Gon's all Bongo drum orchestra.

With an urge for some excitement, I went inside this den of iniquity. At the entrance, doorman Jerry Courser met me with a labored smile. (His Ray Drigg's Dandy Doorman's Union Suit was inducing "Cooties", a new skin irritant similar to smog.)

Once inside, cigarette boy, Jim Adams, offered me some Dick Van Dyke Van Dyke Snoose for the cultured man. I took a seat in a secluded corner and watched what was going on around me. Long Jon Meyers was "kazooming" (progressive bop) in the middle of the dance floor to the jazz of Leroy Volesky's Bolshevik Boy's Band.

At a center table sat a group of celebrities headed by Peter Higgins, the National Junior Achievement President; James O'Connell, the multi-millionaire vinyard owner who backed the Broadway sensation starring the dynamic Gary Schimmels, "Winter at Green Lake". Also at the apex of prosperity, and at this table, were Pat Stiles, who owns the sovereign State of Montana, and Gay Marsh, who owns the entire municipality of Plentywood.

I couldn't stand seeing all these successful men, so I left and began to wander again, without a companion of any sort.

PSY: You wanted companionship?

HERO: O yes! Doesn't everyone? Don't you?

JAMES DUNGAN

PSY: You're right. A person needs friends. Take me—being a headshrinker isn't exactly conducive to gaining friendship. People think you're crazy. I haven't many friends, myself. My insurance man, James Dungan, said that if I didn't stop riding my Joe Burger bicycle to work I'd become a poor risk, and he'd have to drop my account. Jimmy Ellison, the elevator operator, doesn't even talk to me any more. My favorite clothing store, "John Thornton Baggs Haberdashery For Men Under Twelve," won't even sell shirts to me any more. O horrors, horrors! I can't renew my "Billy Clement Bruya Crooner's Card" which entitles me to six lessons under the tutelage of Metropolitan Opera Star Jerome Kenny. O misery! My "Sgt. Ed Preston's Home-You-Too-Can-Be-A-Mountie-Kit" has been stolen. My "Mike Loch Jiffy Peroxide For Tints on the Way" has run out.

Everything happens to me. You think you have troubles, Hero. Just listen to a few of mine. The other day when I was walking down 5th Avenue past Ron Budig's Model Airplane Shop, Lee Meloche met me and sold me a share in the Vincent Gerber goldzite mines.

HERO: What's wrong with owning a part of the goldzite diggings?

PSY: Nothing. But Vincent Gerber doesn't own goldzite mines, he only has gold mines.

HERO: Poor Vince. I'll bet he's supporting all Hillyard, including 'The Duke' Faler's railroad, 'The Greenhouse Limited'.

PSY: But that's not all. I hadn't gone twenty feet until I almost fell through a new open-air manhole scientifically designed by Ray Bowman.

HERO: Your whole trouble, Psy., is that you've stayed apart from the world too long solving these complex problems of your patients. You should catch up with the world. You ought to read some of Lawrence Frownfelter's famous lyrics, "Poems by Hondo." He expresses beautifully the principles of philosopher Henry Kaufman: "Go to bed, go to sleep, don't wake up".

You ought to get a little fun out of life. Buy yourself a first baseman's glove autographed by Tom Glubrecht. Get a collection of surrealistic art by John Heffernan. Find yourself a Don Schafer ball point door knocker. It will give your guests a chance to leave notes when you've gone to see the cinema in Kohleriscope, a recent development by the movie industrialist of the same name. It brings the picture to postage-stamp distinctness (for postage-stamp collectors).

PSY: Enough of my problems. You didn't come here to listen to my trouble. Let's get back to your frustrations, Hero.

HERO: Well, I left Seattle and journeyed to San Francisco. On the outskirts of the city, on a Robert Seipp 3 dimensional Billboard, I read "Welcome to San Francisco, the home of Norbert Trauba." Should I say more? You know how well Norb has done. He, well, you know . . . All-American in '59 and '60, signed by the "Celtics", bought out 'Swartz & Hahn', just generally successful.

I got a room at the Ellenz "Tired Tourist Stop" where Don Hurst was head chambermaid (basement). I didn't have much money, and what money I did have I was saving to see "Rocky" Sexton in the middle-weight title bout in the Cow Palace, so I had to skimp a little and eat at LaVigne's "Just-Like-Mother's-Kitchen" Cafe. (Dan took over Gonzaga's Prep cafeteria facilities just before it degenerated.)

After a few days in 'Frisco I was broke, and desperately needed a new pair of shoes to take me through the rest of my journeys, so I made a trip to Beuchler's Bargain Basement. Mike Garrity, trying to pick up a little cash between choir engagements, sold me a special pair of shoes designed by Jim Gaffney for those who are out of work, and plan to do a lot of walking.

PSY: Why didn't you go to work?

HERO: I abhor work, and besides that, I applied at John Fiedler's "Employment Agency for the Handicapped".

PSY: You feel that you have a handicap?

HERO: Yes. My handicap is that the Fates are against me. Pick up any newspaper or magazine and you'll find that everyone is doing something, except me. I do nothing.

PSY: You're lucky.

HERO: No I'm not. Doing nothing is expensive; you still have to pay taxes. Tax-collector Dave Eldridge has been after me for years.

PSY: Yes, I read in Robert Monaghan's magazine "Eye-Balls over America", which gives an eye-witness account of everything, that gangland czar Steve Kerley had been arraigned by Eldridge for a million dollars back taxes.

HERO: I read "Eye-Balls over America" faithfully, even though it makes me feel so bad. I was reading the latest issue, when I arrived recently in Grand Central Station. In it there was a big coverage about the great debate on the United Nations floor between K. (Knute) Peter Norrie, the American delegate, and Donn Herron, the ambassador from Spain, concerning the legitimacy of Monaque, a Spanish possession. Norrie and Herron were formerly the law team for the "John Hilger Corporation" which manufactures "Pebbles," an additive to give your lawn a more natural look; until Herron made a visit to his native land and became so attached to it that he was made a citizen.

Also I read in "Eye-Balls" that "Sugi" Henry had been voted "Rookie of the year" while playing for Bill Green's Birmingham Bombers. (Known formerly as the Rm. 77 Bombers.)

In the music section, Bubs Hunting's smash program, "The Musical Appreciation Hour" or, more commonly known as "You Too Can Be a Longhair", was given quite a spread. Jim Manson, Monaghan's world famous advertising editor (would you believe it, he began by selling yearbook adds), introduced in the latest issue several new products. E. W. Roberts' "Spaghetti Bent for the Proper Occasion" was the most unique. John Grant's "Adjustable Piston Rings For All Tricycles" was another new addition to the world of industry which is now dominated by Malcolm Sharp's "Boy Scout Uniforms For Formal Wear".

PSY: Have you ever been to a formal occasion?

HERO: Yes. I snuck into the Automotive Convention in Chicago. I saw the Gary Hordemann, Pat Hurley, and Leo Riley syndicate in secret discussion with Bill Smith and Frank Workland. I heard these two factions plan to unite in order to form the greatest trust in automobile history. They would then control all production of speedometer needles. Their principle rival in this field is traditionalist Graham Schultz, who is still driving, I might add, a "classic" chartreuse and black 'convertible'. Just when I was beginning to enjoy myself, Mike Paladin, the official bouncer, threw me out. So you see, nothing I do ever turns out right.

PSY: Have you ever thought of joining the Army?

HERO: Well, I did think of it. I went to Camp Dirge, where General Lawrence Engelhard is in command, and tried to get in, but I was discouraged by some of the soldiers there that I knew. Mike De Groat (a ten year private) told me it was bad. Don Burrell said it was worse than that. Pat Dow said the Army life was more terrible than I could realize; you actually had to work, he stated.

I was discouraged.

PSY: Didn't you feel that you were shirking your duty?

HERO: Nope.' When I found out that George Robinson had four libraries of his own without any books in them, that Roly Weinhandl was photographing artists models, still life, artists models, dramatic scenes, artists models and the like, that Jim Barrett was doing ceramic work, turning out graceful Crane plumbing fixtures in his kitchen oven, I didn't want to go to work.

PSY: I think now I know what your problem is, Hero.

HERO: Tell me quick, Psy! My Ron Clark "Mascara for Men" is running something awful.

PSY: Well, it is very natural for a person to be envious when he sees the success of those around him. But you feel that you are incapable of being a success, and so you don't want to do anything. Now my advice for you is to go to work and establish yourself. Then you will be able to do all the things you want.

HERO: Do you think I would be suited for work at Bob Frankovic's "Swedish Garden Restaurant"?

PSY: That's not your type of work. Perhaps working for the Mike Otis "Wild Animal Zoo" would be better.

HERO: That doesn't appeal to me. I like something more in the public relations line, like Timothy Hayes' "School for Henpecked Husbands".

PSY: Maybe "Iron Jack" Armenia's or Honest Ike Petersen's used car business would be the thing for you.

HERO: If I only had some security. Maybe I could get a job with Kroetch's Wholesale Gold Company.

PSY: Who?

HERO: Greg Kroetch—he won so many gold cups and medals that he gained control of the whole gold industry.

PSY: How about the movies? You know how well that rising star Ralph Brown did in "Rebel Without Applause".

HERO: Yes, I know. But if I could get into some solid business it would be a lot better. Like Mike Crowley, the big motorcycle handle-bar-grip tycoon. Or even Dick Lyons, the chief tester for the Ace Comb Co. (When better combs are made, Ace will be still be trying.)

PSY: All this wishing isn't getting us anywhere. Now listen, Hero, tell me exactly what you expect of me. What did you come here for?

HERO: I . . . , I . . . , Oh, that's right, I came to get poor Dog psycho-analyzed. I'm completely frustrated. I can't do a thing with him. He has no initiative whatever.

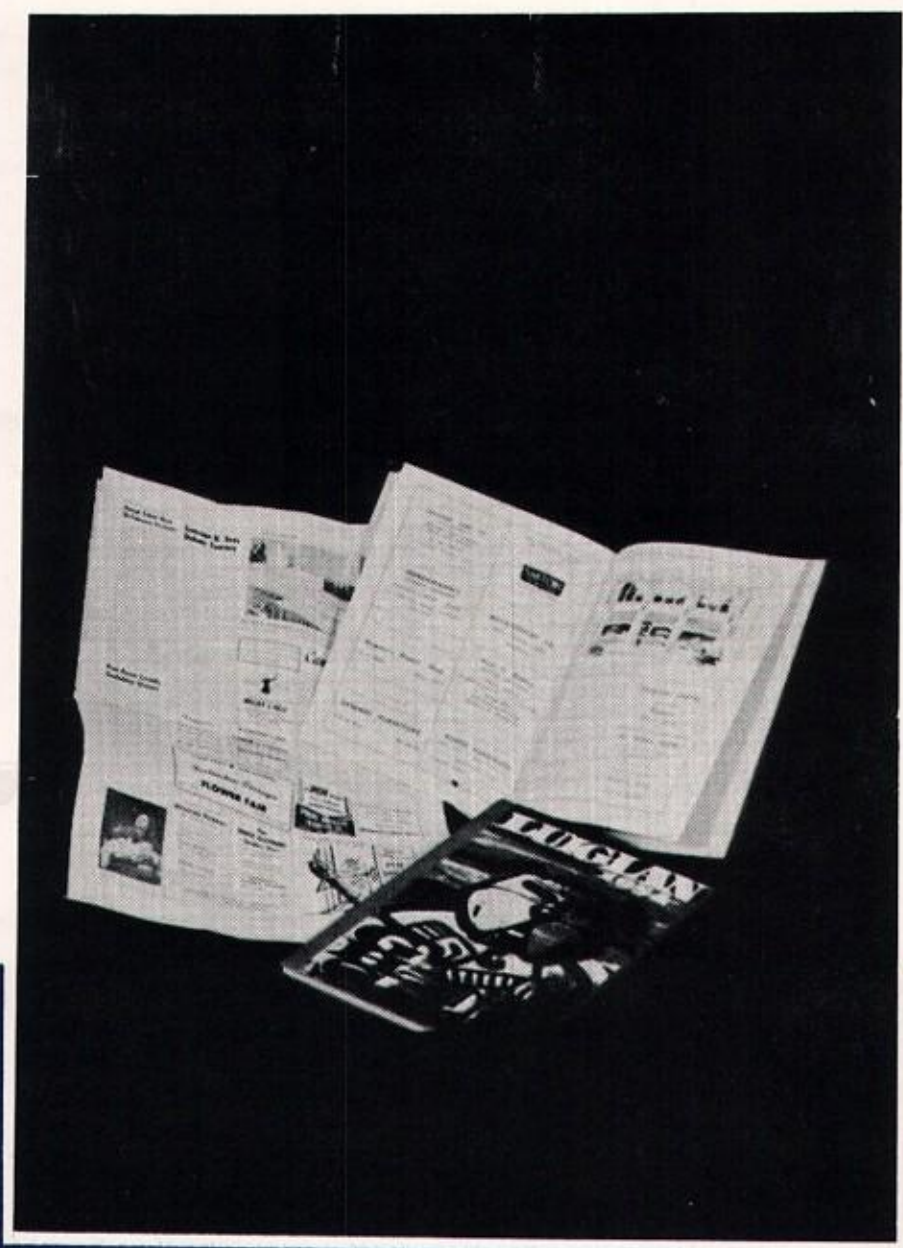

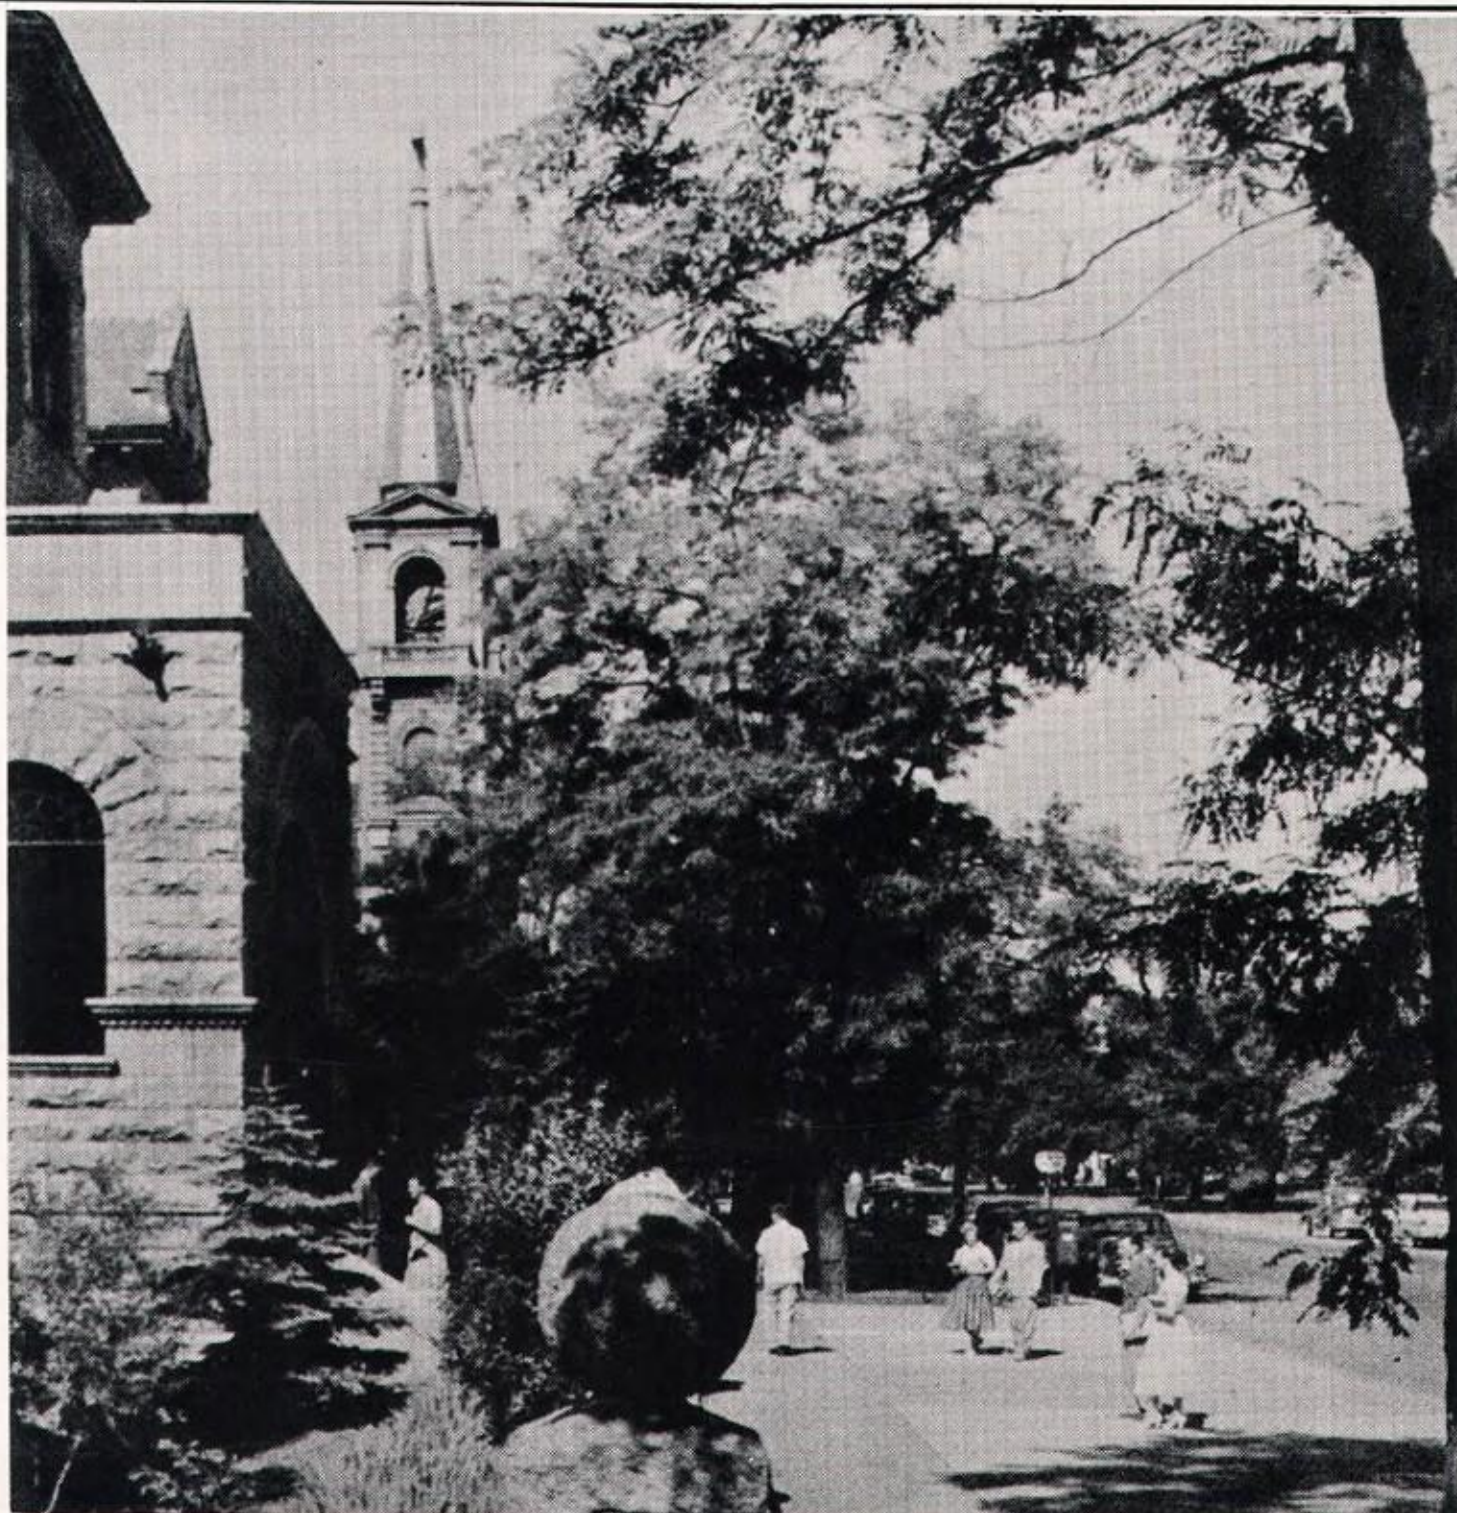

(As Hero gets up from couch, and Psy reaches into the drawer for his .38, the curtain falls on our noble epic. Our last parting thought: "Too bad, Homer, you tried.")

WE, OF THE 1956 LUIGIAN STAFF HAVE TRIED TO CAPTURE FOR YOU, THE STUDENT, A TRUE PICTURE OF LIFE AT GONZAGA PREP. IN FUTURE YEARS, WHEN YOU SCAN THIS BOOK TO REVIEW YOUR HIGH SCHOOL DAYS, IT WAS OUR INTENTION THAT YOU SHOULD FIND THE EVENTS OF THE YEAR 1956 CAREFULLY PRESERVED BEFORE YOUR EYES. WE WISH TO ESPECIALLY THANK ALL THOSE WHO HAVE CONTRIBUTED TO THIS ANNUAL, NOTABLY MR. FRED DES ISLETS, COMMERCIAL PHOTOGRAPHER, MR. JOHN LEIN, S. J. SCHOOL PHOTOGRAPHER, AND OFFICE STAFF, PARTICULARLY MRS. MILLER, OFFICE SECRETARY. WITHOUT THE INVALUABLE HELP OF THESE PEOPLE WE COULD HAVE NEVER ACCOMPLISHED THIS. WE SINCERELY HOPE YOU HAVE ENJOYED YOUR LUIGIAN AND THAT IT WILL BRING YOU MANY YEARS OF PLEASURE.
